CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

Our 7th Annual Fall Conference on Current Concepts in Neonatal Care will present an array of topics pertinent to health care professionals who care for the tiniest and most fragile of infants. Interventions and technologies continue to change in this field and those involved need current, evidence-based, and practical information to provide optimal care. Updates in thrombocytopenia, neonatal cardiology, necrotizing enterocolitis, pulmonary hypertension, early brain injury; as well as many other key issues in neonatal care will be discussed. The goal of this conference is to increase the knowledge and enhance the competence of attendees. Emphasis will be placed on practical application of the evidence-based topics presented.

Topics for this year's conference have been selected based on the educational needs determined from the identified professional practice gaps. The gaps were derived from a variety of sources including evaluations and outcomes data from past participants; clinical expert input; Symposia Medicus' online survey; and other medical and nursing data.

Conference format will include didactic lectures, smaller group breakout and interactive sessions, case studies, and question and answer sessions.

An outstanding faculty has been assembled for this conference. Each member was selected based on their individual area of expertise and ability to communicate current, evidence-based, and practical information to participants.

You are sure to enjoy our 7th Annual Fall Conference on Current Concepts in Neonatal Care while sharing ideas and experiences with colleagues from across the country in the exciting setting of Washington, DC.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

As a result of participating in this conference, you should have increased knowledge and enhanced competence to...

- Diagnose biochemical iron deficiency among NICU patients
- Utilize and apply key technologies like near-infrared spectroscopy (NIRS), electroencephalogram (EEG), and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) in the right setting for the newborn
- Determine the risks and outcomes of patients treated with extracorporeal cardiac life support (ECLS)
- Be cognizant of the early problems in assisted ventilation
- Describe common metrics used by high performing NICUs to assess quality improvement efforts
- Review potential mechanisms for the observed association of anemia, transfusions, and necrotizing enterocolitis (NEC)
- Describe current approaches to the diagnosis and medical management of heart failure in newborns

ATTENDEE REQUIREMENTS

At the conclusion of attending this conference, participants are entitled to a certificate of credit which will be available online. Successful completion of this activity is determined by attending the live activity, review of the educational session materials, and submission of the case studies test, surveys, and attendance verification form. Each participant should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ACCREDITATION

This educational activity was planned and produced in accordance with the ACCME and ANCC Essentials and Standards relating to continuing medical and nursing education.

Symposia Medicus is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
