CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

Integrative Medicine focuses on the mind and body as a whole and the importance of the relationship between practitioner and patient. Our 21st Annual Fall Conference on Integrative Medicine in Women's Health is designed to take an in-depth look at how to achieve optimal health and healing for female patients through a variety of complementary alternative treatment modalities and provide mainstream medical and nursing professionals with evidence-based data. Emphasis will be placed on practical application of the topics presented.

Topics for this year's conference have been selected based on the educational needs determined from the identified professional practice gaps. The gaps were derived from a variety of sources including evaluations and outcomes data from past participants; clinical expert input; Symposia Medicus' online survey; and other medical and nursing data.

Conference format will include didactic lectures, smaller group breakout and interactive sessions, case studies, and question and answer sessions.

Smaller group sessions will be held Friday afternoon. These breakout sessions are organized to provide greater participant/faculty interaction, and will give you an opportunity to participate in discussions on subjects relating to your particular area of interest. Please indicate your breakout session topic choices on the conference registration form in this brochure. Space is limited so please reserve early.

An outstanding faculty has been assembled for this conference. Each member was selected based on their individual area of expertise and ability to communicate current, evidence-based, and practical information to participants.

You are sure to enjoy our 21st Annual Fall Conference on Integrative Medicine in Women's Health while sharing ideas and experiences with colleagues from across the country in the beautiful setting of Tucson.

CONFERENCE LOCATION

Twelve thousand years ago, Tucson was a Native American village by the name of “stukshon.” Loosely translated, it means, “springs from the foot of the black hill.” Situated along the banks of the Santa Cruz River and bordered by both the Sonoran Desert and the Santa Catalina Mountains, Tucson owes much of its powerful allure to its ancient land, heritage, and spirituality.

Famous for its dramatic beauty, the Sonoran Desert covers this region with spectacular cacti – including the giant saguaro, a symbol of the American Southwest. But don’t be fooled by the term “desert” because mountain ranges in all directions offer scenic vistas. Tucson’s legendary year-round sunshine and saguaro-and-sunset landscape have romanced visitors for decades.

Relax and recharge at Loews Ventana Canyon Resort, a top choice among Arizona luxury resorts. Named as one of the top hotels and resorts by US News and World Report 2019 rankings, Lowes Ventana is the perfect place to come back to after exploring historic downtown Tucson or the great outdoors on the resort’s beautiful nature trail.

Enjoy a delicious meal at the Flying Bar & Grill, featuring dishes from Executive Chef Ken Harvey, Food Network’s Chopped (2019) winner and grand finalist. Escape everyday distractions and discover a haven for rejuvenation, restoration, and indulgence at the Lakeside Spa & Fitness Center. Or relax and take in the panoramic views of the Santa Catalina Mountains at the resort’s two heated pools and Jacuzzi.

Whatever your pleasure, you’ll be sure to find it in Tucson, at our 21st Annual Fall Conference on Integrative Medicine in Women’s Health.
